Twister In Oklahoma Takes Lives Of 12

Chinese Seize American Relief Party

PEKIN, May 29.—A relief party, including Americans, proceeding from Wuchow to Kweihsien to learn the fate of missionaries reported killed in recent fighting, fell into the hands of bandits and all the would be rescuers were captured, according to a report from the Consulate at Canton to the American legation here today.

The captives include Rev. P. Ray, a Baptist of Richmond, Va., and Dr. H. Z. Miller, New York.

Vice Consul Chamberlain is proceeding from Canton to assist in obtaining their release. The capture occurred near Tai-Wang, in the Kuan-gei district. Two unidentified Britishers also were captured.

Town of Wetumka Feels Full Force of Cyclone; Many Are Injured

RED CROSS MOVES TO HELP VICTIMS

Relief Workers Combing Debris In Search For Additional Dead

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WETUMKA, Okla., May 29.—Twenty known dead, more than fifty injured, several missing and property damage estimated at $100,000 was the toll of cyclones which scourged Southeastern Oklahoma last night.

Wetumka was hardest hit. The twister swept a path a block wide and five blocks long through the residential district.

Ten were killed outright and forty injured.

Fourteen of the most seriously injured were taken to hospitals at Henryetta.

Thirty were treated in the national guard armory as an improvised hospital, while the homeless and slightly injured were cared for by other residents.

The dead:

J. L. Ramsey.
W. R. Armstrong, wife and baby.

N. A. Woodruff and wife. Infant daughter of Edward Cole and three unidentified.

Two persons were killed and two injured at Warner, Okla.

The dead:

William Winkelpeck, 43; Madge Ward, 14.

Wire communication throughout this section of the state was disrupted. Red Cross representatives arrived today to help in caring for the injured and take the place of relief workers who labored through the night searching the debris for the victims.

The storm dropped into the better residence section, traveling in an easterly direction. Little rain accompanied the twister. Only a boiling, funnel shaped cloud traveling in a leisurely manner was noticed by residents. Witnesses in other sections of the town declared little breeze was felt, but its path was swept clean.

Physicians and volunteer workers, realizing the catastrophe, waited breathlessly for its passage and then started their search for the victims. Physicians from surrounding towns arrived during the night and conditions were orderly today with the national guard unit here and the American Legion in charge.

WINS DELAY IN TRIAL OF TRUNK CASE

Attorney Secures Postponement Until Monday Following Collapse of Mrs. Willis.

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—Trial of Mrs. Margaret Willis, charged with the murder of Dr. Benjamin, was today continued to Monday.

Mrs. Willis, following her breakdown of yesterday, appeared in court and expressed a willingness to have the trial proceed. Attorney S. S. Hahn, her counsel, asked, however, that the case be postponed, and the prosecution did not oppose the request.

Mrs. Willis appeared wan and fatigued today, but apparently in much better physical condition than when court opened yesterday.

CLAIMS MELLON IN GIGANTIC BOOZE DEAL

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Gaspar B. Means in his "farewell appearance" before the Senate Daugherty investigating committee today said Jess Smith gave him documents "showing that Secretary Mellon had gone into an arrangement with Red Sheldon, a New York bootlegger, to give Sheldon liquor permits for which he was to pay a part of the Republican National committee deficit."

Means said he heard that Fred Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National committee and Senator Bursum, New Mexico, were parties to the "deal."

Mellon told Captain Scaife, justice department investigator, Means said, that Bursum was responsible for the arrangement with Sheldon, but Bursum later said he had merely sent Sheldon to Mellon with the offer, according to Means.

Means, who is going to New York to stand trial for conspiracy to defraud the government in liquor deals, reviewed his whole career with the department of justice, told new tales of petty official corruption, intrigue and graft and laid the blame for failure of prohibition enforcement on the big interests.

Third Party Men Score LaFollette

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—Charging Senator Robert M. LaFollette with "gross misrepresentation", and holding up the third party movement as bigger than the man, the central executive committee for the St. Paul, June 17 convention, today issued a lengthy statement declaring the movement "cannot be diverted or destroyed by anything Senator LaFollette may do or say."

Current Events

Mrs. Harvey Bennett and Mrs. George Osterman gave much pleasure to members of Ebenezer's First Current Events section yesterday by entertaining at a delightful luncheon at the El Toro home of Mrs. Bennett.

Sweet peas were used lavishly in decoration and, arranged in dainty pastel-tinted baskets, graced the small tables where luncheon was served. The menu was a toothsome one including such delicacies as chicken patties, perfection salad and in the final course, home-made orange ice with angel food cake.

In the afternoon, current events were given in response to roll call. Election of officers for the section was postponed until next year's first meeting and the afternoon made a social one since it was the final meeting for the current club year.

REAL ESTATE MARKET AGAIN NORMAL THROUGHOUT NATION AFTER BOOM, SURVEY SHOWS

The unprecedented activity which made the year 1923, a record year in the real estate market, is gradually subsiding into a state of normal activity throughout the nation, according to the fourth semi-annual survey of real estate condition over the United States and Canada just completed by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, a copy of which was received here today. Returns received from 229 member boards indicate that the market is in a very healthy condition. It maintains a level of great activity, in which, nevertheless, buying is cautious, and demands that actual value lie behind asking prices.

The conclusion drawn from the reports, it was explained, is confirmed by data which the national association has been collecting from county recorders and from members of the American Title association covering the number of transfers and conveyances recorded from month to month over a period of years. The data show that the number of transfers recorded is on a level with 1923 for the country as a whole.

It is expected by the association that an index of real estate market activity can be constructed from these data as soon as they are complete. Such an index will enable a more accurate measurement of the activity of the market than has heretofore been possible.

The following conclusions are clearly indicated to the association in the answers to the questionnaires:

Although the unusual conditions of 1923 might have been expected to bring on a sharp reaction, no sharp reaction has so far taken place. Many cities report the market more active than last year, but a considerable majority report it the same or not quite so active.

The national building shortage, which was enormous at the end of the war period, is rapidly being met by the largest volume of building construction ever recorded in the history of the country.

Money for the development of real estate, for the most part, is plentiful, but investors and lenders are assuming an attitude of caution and severity particularly toward speculative enterprises.

The labor situation in the building trades is becoming more and more satisfactory.

As to building shortage, the largest existing need continues to be single family dwellings. Fifty-five per cent of the cities reporting indicate a shortage of this type of structure, as against 68 per cent in the association's similar survey of November, 1923.

The large demand for single family dwellings at reasonable prices is doubtless one of the factors in maintaining a normal real estate market, the report points out. If a readjustment comes in the cost of construction it is likely that this latent demand for single family dwellings at smaller prices will assert itself and will provide employment for the building industry as well as considerable activity in the real estate market for some time to come.

Another material cut in the cost of building construction is assured by the home builder who follows the directions included in a booklet, "Recommended Minimum Requirements for Plumbing Installations in Dwellings and Similar Buildings," just released by the department of commerce at Washington, D. C., copies of which were received here today.

This report, which is the result of investigations and tests conducted under the direction of the department's housing division in co-operation with a group of distinguished engineers and expert plumbers, shows that a saving of from $50 to $100 can be effected in the plumbing costs of ordinary dwellings.

In conducting these tests, which continued over a period of two years, while systems of piping and fixtures similar to those in use in ordinary buildings were built, tested, and wrecked to make way for others more economical in cost, and efficient in operation.

The results disclose that the present customary house trays can be safely omitted; that many feet of vent pipe formerly thought necessary can be omitted; and that in innumerable cases three-inch pipes can be used in place of the four-inch standard as fixed by many municipal building codes.

The report includes a plumbing code recommended for adoption by cities and towns and gives detailed information for the economical design of plumbing systems, the choice of materials and fixtures and many other facts of interest to builders and home owners.

Copies may be obtained from superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., for a nominal fee.

EAST'S TOURIST TRAVEL THIRD HEAVIER

Santa Ana may expect an increase in the travel from the East, according to information compiled by officials of the Santa Fe railway and released here today.

That travel to California this summer bids fair to break all records as attested by the report from W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager at Chicago by Joseph T. Smith, local passenger agent, that for the first four days of the reduced rates to the coast the sale of tickets had exceeded the same period last year by 20 per cent.

A further significant fact was contained in the statement that inquiries for transportation at Chicago indicate a 30 per cent increase in the tourist and homeseeker travel to California this year.

The prospective increase of 30 per cent in the travel from Chicago and the east to California over the Santa Fe this summer, the officials stated, literally means one-third more newcomers to the state; one-third more guests at the hotels and resorts, and one-third more people becoming interested in the agricultural sections and eventually if not at once becoming a part of the population of the state. The peak of the travel is expected to be reached about the middle of July, Passenger Agent Smith announced. Business will be greatly stimulated as a result of the continuous flow of travel.

MAKES FINAL APPEAL HERE TO MUSIC LOVERS OF CITY TO HEAR CONCERT TONIGHT

Making a last-minute appeal to music lovers of the city, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, business manager of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, today urged members of the Orange County Choral union and of the various local luncheon clubs, to attend in a body the concert which the orchestra is to give in the auditorium of the new Ebell clubhouse here tonight.

"It would be particularly fitting for the choral union membership to swell tonight's attendance," Mrs. Slabaugh said, "asmuch as the two organizations have worked together during the season just closing and have much in common in the advancement of the city's musical culture."

"So far as concerns the luncheon clubs, I feel certain that these have a full realization of the value of the symphony orchestra as a community asset and thus undoubtedly will do whatever is possible to support the organization."

Orchestra executives at today's meeting of the Santa Ana Lions' club at St. Ann's Inn made it clear that attendance at tonight's concert was not being urged upon the clubmen merely as a matter of public spirit on their part. Numerous musicians in the organization pianist,

Art lovers of Santa Ana and Orange county were keenly interested in the announcement made today that an exhibition and sale of paintings by Conway Griffith, prominent painter of the Southwest, who died recently at Laguna Beach, would be held at his studio at the seaside resort Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. White's presidency is expected to last during the month's absence of President Henry P. Barbour of Long Beach, who left yesterday for Washington, D. C., to attend the national convention of real estate men. The local realtor has been vice-president of the state association for three years.

"Thirty of the members of the Auxiliary turned out to help make this drive a success and the public responded to our appeal for the disabled boys nobly."

This fund is bound to bring cheer to the hearts of the disabled soldiers who are at present receiving no compensation, many of whom have families and are in dire distress through the lack of funds and the slow action of the Veterans' Bureau. In granting their claims for compensation.

"In behalf of the Auxiliary, I want to thank all the people of Santa Ana who cheerfully gave their bit to help our disabled heroes."

Curb Leaped, Lawn Scarred, Identity Of Autoist Sought

The police here today were attempting to learn the identity of persons who at 10 o'clock last night drove an automobile over the curb and across the lawn into the residence at 1310 Lincoln street. Two broken windows in the house and considerable other damage was caused by the automobile. It was said that the autoists succeeded in backing their car out of the wreckage and escaping before a description of them could be obtained.

were actually losing money by devoting their time to the orchestral work, yet were glad to do this for the advancement of the city, the club was told.

"It is not so much your individual dollar that we desire, as it is your support," summed up the plea. "A city must have worthwhile things in the way of entertainment to offer the new-comer. This orchestra is eminently one of those things."

QUIT HAVING BILIOUS COLIC

Texas Lady Says Her Suffering Was Terrible Until She Began Using Black-Draught.

Naples, Tex.—Mrs. G. W. Carisle, who resides on Route 3, near here, says: "I used to have very severe spells of bilious colic. My suffering was terrible. I took different remedies; still I would have these spells."

"I heard of Thedford's Black-Draught and began to use it. After taking it for some time I quit having colic and haven't had a spell in years. It is about the only medicine I ever take. We certainly can recommend it to anyone. I take the dry powder and it keeps my liver in good shape. I have excellent health."

Colic is often due to torpid condition of the liver. Other disagreeable symptoms of inactive liver are bilious headache, dizziness, indigestion, coated tongue, bitter taste, offensive breath, and constipation.

Draught acts in a natural way upon the liver, and helps to put it in working order again.

Black-Draught has been in successful use for over eight years and hundreds of people have written of the benefit they have derived from the use of Black-Draught in the treatment of their bilious colic. Black-Draught is free from alcohol and harmful drugs, and is prepared only from powdered medicinal roots and herbs.

Remember—if it's not Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine it's not Black-Draught liver medicine.

Insist upon the genuine!

DAY MORE THAN HOLIDAY POST COMMANDER SAYS

Declaring that Memorial day should be more than just a holiday, Commander Ed McFadden of Santa Ana post 131, American Legion today stated that since the world war, the general public has been brought to regard this day with more reverence than ever before.

Persons who have automobiles in play, that of Sidney Fairchild, the ward of the three wise fools, is widely as possible and still keep up the standard of the productions, new actors are always welcomed.

Three of the principal characters of this play are new to Santa Ana theatergoers. Two of the "Wise Fools" have never appeared here in plays.

This morning Memorial day exercises were held in the local schools. Elmer T. Worthy, high school teacher, showed slides of war scenes to the students there. School children, prompt to answer the request of G. P. Lawrence, commander of Sedgwick Post No. 17, G. A. R., today brought to the school, flowers suitable for the decoration of graves.

Dr. H. MacVicker, of the Santa Ana Post No. 121, American Legion, again today called attention of those who wish to contribute flowers to the post that the blooms must be delivered at the armory on Birch street just off Fourth before 8:30 a. m. tomorrow. Women of the Legion post auxiliary will arrange flowers in bouquets.

Santa Ana's Memorial day observation will center on Birch park where Freeman H. Bloodgood will deliver the address at 2 p. m. Members of the G. A. R. and affiliated bodies will gather at G. A. R. hall in time to leave there at 1:30 p. m. and march to the park.

VETERANS HONORED GUESTS AT KIWANIS CLUB'S MEETING

Thirty-two Civil War veterans of Santa Ana today approached the solemn period of tomorrow, Memorial day, with a keen sense of the high esteem in which they are held here, following the weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club at St. Ann's Inn yesterday, when they were honored guests of the club. The meeting was declared to have been one of the most remarkable ever held by the local club and the veterans deemed it a deeply appreciated and enjoyable courtesy.

The combined ages of the group of veterans was 2527 years, the average age was 80 years, and the average age at the time of enlistment was 17 years. Alternating at the tables with members of the club, the grizzled men of '61 entered heartily into the spirit of the meeting. Familiar songs that stirred them when they were young and fought for their country.

Kiwanians, in introducing their guests, gave the name, residence and army unit of each. It was noted that in the group there was but one commissioned officer. When he saw the stern officers lead her away he could not hide his grief and fear.

Couldn't Hold Back Tears

Huddled in his lonely corner, a picture of misery and despair, the boy would not be comforted, though his father, and even the judge of the court, tried their best.

Yesterday's preliminary hearing of Inez Fillet and Manuel Ramirez, the man with whom she was said to have fled from her home in San Diego, brought forth a strange angle, alien to cases of the sort so far as local court annals show.

Testimony at the hearing disclosed that the man and woman now held for trial had repented and mended their ways before the law seized them.

Religion Comes Too Late

Religion, it was shown, had won them back to the righteous path. They had met a minister of the gospel, it was told; had rented a house from him and were living together as man and wife with the woman's young son, Alexander, who was so grief-stricken in the courtroom. Then the minister discovered their sin. Instead of casting them out, he talked to them of God. With conversion came repentance, it was said.

The Rev. Gonzales Cisneros, testifying at the hearing yesterday said: "When they saw the light, they changed their ways and lived together no longer as man and wife."

J. B. Fillet, husband of the woman, testified against the couple, showing that the woman was still legally married to him, but showing also, that he no longer considered her his wife.

"Is that you wife?" Deputy District Attorney Kenneth Burns, asked Fillet.

"She used to be," returned Fillet grimly.

Justice Jack Landel ordered the defendants held to trial under $500 bail each, which they could not supply. Then he left the bench and tried to comfort the heart-broken boy in the far corner of the courtroom.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times the terrible disease left him helpless and unable to move.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that he can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid crystals, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted many physicians and finally compounded his prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenru, to others who took it with what might be called marvel. For many years of urging he decided to let someone everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore copyrighted his discovery and is giving it to everyone who wants to dispense Allenru with the understanding that if the first pint bought does not show the way to complete recovery, he will give return your money without comment. MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST TO BE HELD

Students from Santa Ana, Tustin, Anaheim, Fullerton, and Huntington Beach high schools were represented at the annual Orange County Music Memory contest which was being held at the Tustin high school late today, beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Students received here late yesterday announced that San Juan Capistrano would be unable to enter. The Frances E. Willard junior high school of Santa Ana must not be connected with the school by which they are selected.

Cranston To Preside

J. A. Cranston, superintendent of the Santa Ana schools, will preside at the contest, and will award a banner, offered by the National Association for the Advancement of Good Music, to the winning school. Musical instructors from the various schools including Miss Margaret Wickes of Santa Ana, Miss Madge Stephens of Tustin, Miss Frances L. Doubt of Huntington Beach, Miss Phyllis Keynes of Anaheim, Miss Grace Wishard of Fullerton, and Miss Ruth Violet of Frances E. Willard junior high school, have been coaching their teams for some time for the contest and will work hard for the banner.

During the time consumed by the judges in correcting the papers music will be supplied by the winners of the recent music contest held May 2, which will include music by the Fullerton boys' glee club, the Huntington Beach girls' glee club, the Santa Ana violin soloist, the Orange boys' vocal soloist, the Fullerton girl soloist, and the Anaheim girl soloist.

Extra Tustin Team Picked

Five students at the Tustin high school were yesterday selected to represent that school at the contest. They are Misses Ida Thorman, Elizabeth Palmer, Celeste White, Letta Harwell, and Margaret Rust, several of whom were members of the winning team last year. All of the Tustin entrants scored 100 percent on their papers last year, it is pointed out. Students from other schools are expected to make an interesting race for the supremacy this year, and according to Miss Stephens, more interest will be shown in the contest next year when Orange and Garden Grove will both be entered.

Robert R. Shafer of the Shafer Music company of Santa Ana, assisted by Earl Fraser, Santa Ana pianist, will be in charge of the contest instead of Miss Madeline Cross, as was formerly announced. Miss Cross is filling a similar duty in Los Angeles this afternoon.

Each school in the county entering the contest will be allowed a number of contestants in proportion to their total enrollment. Each of the schools will also be allowed to select one judge. Miss Mary Durbin of the Tustin grammar school has been selected as the judge at Tustin. The judges

Tells Love of Family

"America the Beautiful" was given by Harry Garstang, preceding an address delivered by the Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

"We are here not to glorify the valor of these comrades—we are here to pay tribute to men who loved their families as we do, but who departed from the family fireside to sacrifice, if need be, their lives to the cause for which they fought," the Rev. Mr. Roberts said.

He expressed the hope that some day the people of this nation would return to the customs of former years in observing Memorial day as a day consecrated to the old soldiers rather than to frivolity and recreation, the tendency of today.

BALBOA CAFE WILL RE-OPEN TOMORROW

The Rendezvous cafe will open tomorrow. This dancing pavilion was operated last year under the name of the Lighthouse cafe. It has been entirely remodeled, and a new hardwood floor laid. It will be conducted this season with a five-cents-a-dance policy in force. The Rendezvous will be under the management of Alton McDermott and Howard White; Charles Carothers will be the floor manager; and Silvers Karp, cashier. Grigsby's Club orchestra will furnish the music. This organization is composed of young men popular in local circles and is also the same management of McDermott and White.

A novel feature of our orchestra," said White, "is the use of two pianos. Only a few of the larger orchestras have this feature. It was necessary to build a new stage for the orchestra in order to accommodate the two grand pianos which we use. The management of the Rendezvous will be conducted strictly as a dance pavilion, but we wish the people to take its name literally and use it as a meeting place."

Up to June 15th, the Rendezvous will be open Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, and Sunday afternoons. After that date, dancing every night will be the policy. A special Ebell Club dance has been booked for June 4. Tomorrow, the opening day, dancing will start at 2 p. m. and continue until 1 a. m.

Launches Program Of Beach Building

James Pierce of this city, today was conducting a building program at 307 Bay avenue, Balboa, which will call for the expenditure of approximately $6,000, according to his announcement made here today.

The building program contemplates the construction of six three-room apartments. The location is adjoining that of his summer home, 309 Bay avenue.

"Balboa is increasing in popularity and there is an increasing demand for cottages for the summer months," said Pierce in commenting on his enterprise in the construction of the apartments.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenru, to others who took it with what might be called marvel. For many years of urging he decided to let someone everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore copyrighted his discovery and is giving it to everyone who wants to dispense Allenru with the understanding that if the first pint bought does not show the way to complete recovery, he will give return your money without comment. Accuse Olinda Man Of Forging Check

Having waived his preliminary examination on a charge of forgery, Walter M. Ledbetter, 21, of Olinda, was held in the county jail today in default of $2000 bail.

Ledbetter was alleged to have forged the name of E. E. Knight to a check for $33.40. He failed in an attempt to pass the check at a Placentia bank and his arrest followed, late yesterday.

When arraigned before Justice Jack Landel here he waived preliminary hearing.

must not be connected with the school by which they are selected.

Cranston To Preside

J. A. Cranston, superintendent of the Santa Ana schools, will preside at the contest, and will award a banner, offered by the National Association for the Advancement of Good Music, to the winning school.

According to Miss Madge Stephens, instructor of music at the Tustin school, students in every Orange County school are taking up the work with interest and are working hard for honors along the music line. Miss Stephens announced that interest ran so high at the Tustin school that she will also have a second team composed of six members, who will not be in the competition, but who will try to answer the questions, and whose papers will be corrected by herself.

Extra Tustin Team Picked

Five students at the Tustin high school were yesterday selected to represent that school at the contest. They are Misses Ida Thorman, Elizabeth Palmer, Celeste White, Letta Harwell, and Margaret Rust, several of whom were members of the winning team last year.

Colonial Club Offers
Lovely Setting For
Pre-nuptial Dinner

Cope-Hobbs Nuptials
Find An Exquisite
Home Setting

Miss Isabel Anderson, one of the much-feted brides of June, was the incentive for a delightful little dinner presented last night at Colonial Club, 2038 North Main street, by a trio of hostesses, Miss Beatrice Cartwright, Miss Dorothy Cartwright and Miss Thelma Patton.

The bridal motif distinguished all details of the affair from the entry of the guests to the strains of Lohengrin, to the final good nights, voiced to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

An unusually attractive setting was given the dinner, in the club's formal dining-room with its handsome linens, silver and china. Flowers banked the massive oval buffet and gleamed from every vantage. The table was a picture, offering a scene from a garden wedding with the merry party just emerging from the weddng archway with its suspended bell. Bride, groom, honor maid, best man, even the wee flower maidens were all represented and the garden effect was uniquely lovely.

Yellow was the dominant color note, sounded in the garlands festooned from the over-hanging chandelier and in the tulle bows adorning lovely corsages of spring blossoms which lay with each bridal place card.

When the guests were seated Miss Beatrice Cartwright with much solemnity, read a wedding service which obligated Miss Anderson the honoree, to many amazing vows, to the amusement of all present.

The delectable dinner proceeded to the final course which offered a huge wedding cake which Miss Anderson cut with much ceremony. It contained the proverbial symbols of which Miss Helen Wieseman won the ring, denoting an early marriage; Miss Thelma Patton, the thimble, suggestive of spinsterhood, and Miss Dorothy Cartwright, the dime, promising wealth. With the ices, was presented to the honoree as a gift from her hostesses, an artistic flower bowl in deep yellow, the package being wrapped and tied in the same harmonious tints.

Enjoying the happy event were the hostess trio, the Misses Beatrice and Dorothy Cartwright and Thelma Patton, the honored bride-elect, Miss Anderson, her sister, Miss Annie Anderson, Miss Marjorie Tubbs, Miss Violet Wieseman, Miss Persama Deimling, Miss Ethel Smallwood, and Miss Virginia Thatcher.

Capistrano Y. L. I.

Fifty members of Capistrano Institute, Y. L. I. are still smiling over the jolly "kid" party which they enjoyed Tuesday evening, following the regular meeting of the institute at Knights of Columbus hall.

Shouts of laughter greeted each "little girl" as she put in an appearance, but it remained for Miss Ada Markel, the efficient secretary, to bring down the house with her make-up in caricature of Zasu Pitts. Needless to say that Miss Markel was awarded the prize by the judges for the funniest costume, while Miss Armella Klatt was given the trophy for being the cutest little girl.

During the evening, it was decided to give a card party on the evening of Monday, June 9, at Knights of Columbus hall, to obtain funds for the purchase of the hope chest, articles for which are now being made, and the proceeds from which will go to the Sisters' orphanage at Anaheim.

As the hard-time outing at Orange county park was such a success last summer, there will be another one this year at the same place, the date to be announced later, and the Knights of Columbus will be invited. Miss Frances Hillman will be the chairman of this committee, while Mrs. Stella Ingemann will manage the plans for the card party.

The members voted to affiliate with the National Council of Catholic women, the first state convention of which will be held in Los Angeles in June. Capistrano will be entitled to two delegates.

Following all kinds of funny stories, refreshments were served by the committee, of which Mrs. Carl Heitz was chairman. Madame Mantela Budrov, who dropped in to invite the girls to her recital Saturday night at Ebell club house, sang a dainty little Spanish number, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

University Study

The University Study section of Ebell society met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. M. Nealey in Tustin. Officers for the next year were elected as follows: Leader, Mrs. Samuel M. Davis; assistant leader, Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch; secretary, Mrs. J. T. Wilson.

J. Russell Bruff of the Junior college faculty presented a most interesting paper on "Change and Progress," which he had read before the Monday club on Monday evening. Mr. Bruff's paper was followed by an animated and very interested discussion.

The section meetings next year will be held in the Ebell clubhouse, and a very interesting course in ethics is being planned by Mr. Nealey who has generously consented to lecture before the section again next year.

This section is now an open section and those who desire to register for next year's work may present their names to the Ebell curator, Mrs. J. W. McCormack, or to the section's secretary, Mrs. J. T. Wilson.

Smart Luncheon Given
In Honor of Guest
From Oregon

The stately strains of Lohen- grin's Wedding March heralded the approach of a young and lovely bride yesterday morning at 11 o'clock when Miss Ruth Cope, entering upon the arm of her fiance, Fred Hobbs, took the vows that made her his wife, in the presence of a few relatives and close friends gathered at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. B. Cope, 318 West Chestnut street.

The wedding was exquisite in all its details and the home was transformed into a floral bower by the loving hands of one of the bride's closest friends, Mrs. Robert Jeffrey, formerly Miss Helen Cook.

Mrs. Jeffrey also played the wedding march with Miss Anna Grace McElree offering the violin obbligato. A pretty recital preceded the wedding when Mrs. Le Roy Valentine of Orange sweetly sang Cadman's "At Dawnning" and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Mrs. Jeffrey and Miss McElree played the piano and violin accompaniments.

The Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Orange was officiating minister, the impressive ring ceremony being used. He stood awaiting the young people under a floral archway springing from two great baskets of summer blossoms in brilliant colorings. The arch was wound with fern and the silver sheen of dusty miller as a foundation for lovely flowers, and directly over the heads of the young people was a cluster of waxen St. John lilies.

The bride's fresh girlishness was emphasized by her gown of brocaded crepe, lace draped. A long veil, falling from a chaplet of orange blossoms, was caught to her gown with sprays of the same flower. White sweet peas in shower arrangement as her bridal bouquet, completed the lovely picture.

After a dainty wedding breakfast served in the flower-adorned dining-room by Mrs. Cope and her mother, Gladys, a number of pictures were taken of the new Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs and their guests ere their departure for a honeymoon at Big Bear.

In motoring to the popular mountain resort, Mrs. Hobbs wore a smart little tan tailleur with all harmonizing accessories. Upon their return they will occupy a pretty new home on Tustin avenue, Orange, which is nearing completion.

Mr. Hobbs is a graduate of Orange high school and is a prosperous young rancher of the county. His bride, a Santa Ana high school graduate, has been in the office of the Cope Electric company since graduation.

Music Recital

Tonight at Lawrence hall, the pupils of Queen Crane Kling's "Nature Music" studio will be heard in a recital to which the public has been cordially invited.

Music of flowers and a gay outdoor life will be interpreted by the young people of the classes, all in dainty costumes. The success of previous recitals and the pleasure the programs have given, give promise of an equally enjoyable evening and a large crowd is expected to greet the young people, many of whom show marked talent.

Varying the piano numbers will be a violin and piano duet by a talented brother and sister, Marion Nau as violinist and his sister, little Miss Mary Henrietta Nau at the piano.

Other pupils to appear under Mrs. Kling's direction will be June Wayne, Marguerite Haskell, Bethel Dickinson, Marjorie Knox, Natalie Neff, Leora Hatch, Dorothy Hatch, Marguerite Lewis, Vivian Mae Westbrook, Mary Henrietta Nau, Dolly Mae Fowles, Madeline Morilla, George Haskell and Clifford Haskell.

The recital will begin at 8 o'clock.

PUPILS PRESENTED

Last night at her home studio, 1107 West Fourth street, Fredda Moesser Barger presented a number of piano pupils in recital before fifty parents and friends who had been invited to the interesting event.

The young people showed marked improvement in their work, playing all the numbers from memory with a confidence that brought pleased comment from their hearers. Giving each piece the effect desired they brought credit not alone to themselves but to their teacher.

Adding to the enjoyment of the evening were the special numbers on the program consisting of a dolly song by Gloria Sohre accompanied by her sister Rosella; a group of humorous readings by Little Jean Smith, daughter of Mel Smith, and a favorite child reader of the city and two delightful readings given by Mrs. John W. Estes Jr. who is also a popular reader on many programs.

Mrs. Leonard read a poem on Step-Mothers, Mrs. J. H. Scott also gave a reading entitled "The Shrine at Mothers Knee."

An invitation from the Tustin W. C. T. U. members to meet with them at Orange county park in June was gladly accepted.

Guests Plan Surprise
In Celebration of Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heit of 1123 West First street celebrated their eleventh wedding anniversary Tuesday but were not aware of the fact that it was to be made a special occasion until a company of their friends of the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters descended upon them in their home.

The party was gay with nasturtiums in all their beautiful shades of yellow, with nut baskets and place cards to match. After the luncheon some of the guests played麻将 while others enjoyed visiting in the beautiful parlors of the Inn.

Despite their expectation of having to leave the Inn so early, the women were delighted to learn that the day also marked the anniversary of their parents' marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Detwiler, who reside with their daughter and son-in-law, the anniversary of their marriage was also marked enough to affect the comfort of the audience in the least.

Patrons of the organization are keenly anticipating the initial concert tonight, a concert which marks an epoch in the city's development, since the establishment of such an orchestra as a Santa Ana organization is a remarkable achievement and one of which the city has reason to be proud indeed.

A noteworthy fact in connection with the orchestra is that its personnel is so youthful, practically all the musicians being youths of nineteen or twenty. The cultural benefit to them of such an enthusiastic leader and director as C. D. Cianfoni, and their association in the orchestra is beyond estimation.

Dancing concluded the evening.

Among those present from Orange county were Messrs. and Mrs. R. R. Miller, Fred Newcomb, Fred H. Taylor, R. Miles, Dr. H. MacVicker Smith, C. W. Rowland, Eleanor Young Elliott, Horace Fine, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parry, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Farley, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Purdy, Dr. Jesse Chilton, A. J. SUGGESTS HERBERT HOOVER FOR U. S. VICE-PRESIDENCY

Editor Register—The Register, a few days ago ran clippings from the San Francisco Chronicle and the Long Beach Telegram relative to the selection of a candidate for the vice-president of the United States. Why doesn't someone propose a vice-president? I am only a woman and cannot expect to do things of so great importance, but I am suggesting to you that the Hon. Herbert Hoover be looked over as a very good possible candidate. ISABEL C. MANN.

RESUME ANAHEIM DRILLING

ANAHEIM, May 29.—Drilling at the Miley test well on the Sidman lease west of the city was progressing satisfactorily today, following the collapse of the casing three weeks ago at a depth of 3800 feet, and it is expected that the drill, which is now working outside the original hole, past the spot where the collapse of the casing prevented further work, will break back into the hole in a few days. It was said that the oil showings at the 3800-foot level were excellent and the company was very much encouraged at the reports shown in the log.

Wintersburg-Smelzer

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, May 29.—Miss Ethel Soden, teacher in junior high school in Rock Springs, Wyo., arrived Wednesday to spend her vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Soden.

The Queen Esther girls held their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. H. Moore.

Mrs. Moore served a very delicious chicken dinner, which was as thoroughly enjoyed as the music over the radio.

The Epworth League party given at the Methodist Community Hall of Wintersburg Friday evening was largely attended by the members of the organization. Not as many were present as had been anticipated but those present report a very enjoyable social evening.

Pupils and patrons of the Oceanview grammar school enjoyed their annual picnic at Orange county park Friday, May 23. The high school bus of Huntington Beach was used to convey the children to and from the park. A large number were present to enjoy the "bounceous" dinner, the boat rides, horseshoe games and the many other pleasures that go with such a picnic.

Mrs. John Murdy of Wintersburg underwent a minor operation at the Community hospital of Santa Ana Wednesday morning. She was able to return to her home Saturday but will be confined to her bed for a few days. Mrs. A. H. Moore is assisting with the care of her small baby.

Mrs. Fred Cooper and children spent a couple of days of last week with relatives in Long Beach.

Home Nelson, who was quite seriously injured while riding on a roller with his father, has improved rapidly and is able to be around again.

Tuesday evening a large delegation from Smeltzer and Wintersburg motored to the beach with mouth all pucker for the big grunion dinner they would have on Wednesday. Evidently the grunion had been put wise and kept their distance, for not one was seen.

A children's day program will be given June 8 by the Wintersburg Methodist Sunday school. Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Horace Moore are in charge of the program.

RESULT OF NEW REVENUE BILL IS OUTLINED

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—Under the new revenue bill now pending before congress many classes of taxpayers will be affected almost as soon as the proposed legislation is enacted and becomes law.

In a survey of the new bill, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodell warned taxpayers that taxes were still being collected under the revenue act of 1921, but that if congress adopts the new revenue act as it stands today, its immediate effect would be substantially as follows:

The flat 25 per cent reduction on income taxes paid this year on 1921 income would become effective thirty days after the president signs the bill. The procedure by which the reduction will be made to individual taxpayers will be announced by Collector Goodell as soon as it is received from Washington.

The annulment of excise taxes including theater admissions up to 50 cents, jewelry, soft drinks and other classes of taxes would also take effect thirty days after the bill becomes law.

Normal taxes would be 2 per cent on net income up to $4000, instead of 4 per cent as heretofore; 4 per cent on the next $4000 and 6 per cent on all above $8000.

The personal exemption for a married couple with net income in excess of $5000 is increased from $2000 to $2500. Single persons will receive $1000 personal exemption as heretofore.

Surtax rates would begin at 1 per cent incomes of $200,000 and $350,000; 3% per cent from $350,000 to $500,000 and a maximum of 40 per cent above $500,000.

The rate of $1 a thousand on capital stock and 12 1/2 per cent on the net incomes of corporations as provided by the present revenue bill would remain intact.

An increase of 25 per cent to 40 per cent would be made in the tax on gifts and inheritances of $10,000,000 or more.

WARN AGAINST ORGANIZATION 'EXPERTS'

Individuals and companies operating under the names of organization specialists and organization experts were listed today among the undesirables in the commercial life of California by Edwin M. Daugherty, state corporation commissioner, who broadcast from Sacramento a warning to persons seeking to finance propositions and who might become victims in this class of financial adventure.

Commissioner Daugherty added that information had also been received by the corporation department that the so-called specialists represent they have a "pull" with the department. He asked that all such representations be communicated to the department for appropriate action.

"The attention of the corporation department has been called to numerous so-called organization specialists who are bilking the public and who are preying upon persons not familiar with accepted methods of incorporating companies or promoting enterprises," the commissioner said in his warning. "Information gathered by the department shows that none of them has the legal training and understanding to qualify for such work."

"The methods of these men are virtually the same. They get well meaning persons who have enterprises they wish to promote. Companies are organized in a manner that a qualified attorney could do better and probably at much less expense. Generally, a large initial expense is paid by the applicant for service. Additional fees are collected. Some of these are not required by law. The applicant is induced to sign a contract which has been drawn skillfully, is ironclad, and which the courts cannot set aside.

"When the transaction reaches the stock-selling stage, the applicant is turned over to another man. All the latter does is to recommend salesmen, and to supply a list of prospective purchasers, probably taken from the city directory. The applicant later discovers he has been bilked and that the specialist has been unable to deliver on representations that he would finance a concern that would go over big. These representations are verbal and it is a case of one man's word against another if the matter comes to an issue."

"Many of these 'specialists' say they have the 'inside track' with the state corporation department."

Commenting on this phase of the matter the statement adds:

"Anybody who claims he can get any more from this department than anyone else and gets paid for it, is obtaining money under false pretenses. Representations that money is needed to 'grease the wheels,' for 'quick action' or for any other exceptional consideration where the department is concerned should be called to the attention of the department by the persons solicited."

BOY OF MINE DUE AT WEST END TONIGHT.

A genuine circus, one of the biggest and most famous, was used as a background for some of the scenes of "Boy of Mine," which opens tonight at the West End.

The scenes were "shot" during the visit to Los Angeles of "the greatest show on earth."

Ben Alexander, who was "Penrod" in "Penrod and Sam," was the hero of them all.

"Boy of Mine," which, like "Penrod and Sam," is a picturization of a Booth Tarkington story, centers around the life of a typical American boy, a part played by Ben. Humorous incidents in the picture have to do with his visit to the circus.

That the circus episodes would reflect the true atmosphere of a circus, J. K. McDonald sought permission to "shoot" his scenes during a Saturday afternoon matinee. The privilege was granted and the unit was moved bag and baggage to the circus lot.

"Boy of Mine" includes Henry B. Walthall, Ben Alexander, Irene Rich, Rockliffe Fellowes, Dot Farley and Lawrence Litalz.

GEORGE ARLISS FILM ENDS YOST RUN TONIGHT.

George Arliss, star of "$20 a Week," the picture closing at the Yost theater tonight, is one of the world's most distinguished and best loved actors. He is an Englishman by birth but all his successes have been made in America where he has been a prominent figure in the theater for the past twenty-five years. Arliss first came to this country with Mrs. Patrick Campbell, but it was with Blanche Bates in "The Darling of the Gods" that he first attracted widespread attention. Following this he was starred in a number of plays which have made theatrical history, notably "The Devil," "Disraeli" and "The Green Goddess."

BUSTER KEATON COMEDY CLOSES TONIGHT.

From the opening subtitle to the final fadeout, Buster Keaton's new picture, "Sherlock Jr.," which closes tonight at Walker's theater, is a corking good feature comedy. It is a sparkling gem of humor, abetted by a keen appreciation of life as it is lived in a small town. It is the story of a movie operator who, after taking up a $2 correspondence course to qualify as a detective, gets fame and the girl when he falls asleep as he is showing a Hollywood melodrama. Joseph M. Schenck produced the picture which was directed by Buster Keaton.

WHEN A GIRL LOVES HAS NUMBER OF STARS.

"When a Girl Loves," the current attraction at the Temple theater, is not only big in theme, big in production, big in direction but is especially big in "names"—picture stars and players who are unusually well known in the movie theaters of the world.

Agnes Ayers and Percy Marmont, who play the heroine and hero respectively, are not exceptional players but have reputations by reason of star performances in film successes. In addition to their "name" the production has Robert McKim, Kathryn Williams, Mary Alden, George Siegmann, John George, William Orland, Ynez Seabury, Otto Lederer, Rosa Rosanova and Leo White.

Miss Whitney has been designated as one of the most efficient county recorders in the state. She knows the business from A to Z. She was in the office under the regime of George E. Peters for twelve years, six of them as his chief deputy.

One of the principal features of the new hall of records is its lighting system, large windows being plentiful, and when sunlight is not available, the inverted domes for the electric light give excellent service. Miss Whitney's offices are especially favored as they have a north and west exposure.

The counters, filing cabinets and book racks are plentiful and of the latest design for accessibility. The large books have been arranged of uniform size, as have also the many maps used in the county recorder's work. These all have been placed in books.

REGISTER EDITOR PRESENTS JUNIOR REGISTER TROPHY TO GARDEN GROVE HIGH SCHOOL

GARDEN GROVE, May 29.—One feature of the field day held yesterday at the new grammar school was the presentation of the Junior Register cup, offered by the Santa Ana Register, to the Garden Grove high school for the record of the school in the Junior Register work.

In presenting the cup J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register, took occasion to pay a tribute to Ellen MacKenzie Dodson, the journalism teacher who keyed the students up to the highest point of interest in the Junior Register work.

Mr. Baumgartner said that it made him proud and gave him special pleasure to note that the award had been made in exceedingly close competition with another school in the county, largely on the improvement of the work of the Garden Grove school in the second semester.

"Improvement," said Mr. Baumgartner, "that is the point. Whatever you do the second time or a third time try to do it better than you did it the first time or the second time. Anything that is worth doing once is worthy of your best efforts to improve the quality of your work when you come to it again."

Mr. Baumgartner said that in inaugurating the publication of the Junior Register, the management had in mind primarily the giving of an opportunity to the school boys and school girls of the county for specialization in composition, grammar, diction, etc., and in improving their powers of observation with respect to comprehension, siveness and accuracy.

"You would be surprised," said Mr. Baumgartner, "to know how very, very few business men and professional men, are able to write clear, concise, grammatical English, using good diction. To be able to do so is one of the greatest social, business and professional accomplishments."

"The fact that your class showed improvement in its work during the second semester indicates that those engaged in the work were interested and that they really worked, and that their teacher, Miss Ellen M. Dodson, was interested and gave them high-class instruction. Knowing as I do what fine work was done in many of the other schools of the county, I can say very sincerely that I believe this cup is most worthily bestowed, and I have great pleasure in presenting it to Miss Dodson, as your representative."

"I congratulate you most heartily, and sincerely hope that you will go in to win next year."

also of Long Beach, evening guests.

Mrs. J. J. Cozad and daughter, Wilma, visited Mrs. H. M. Ellis in Long Beach Tuesday.

Mrs. Orr Settle, librarian, requests that all books still out, which were issued before the period the library was closed, be returned immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. LaBee were in Los Angeles yesterday visiting a friend who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carter left Wednesday morning, to go a few days, for a combined business and pleasure trip to Merced.

Miss Clara Williams of Long Beach spent the week-end with Miss Grace Thompson.

Misses Flora and Bellma Bunch of Huntington Beach spent yesterday with their mother, Mrs. J. W. Bunch, here.

Bids were opened Monday for work to be let on the school here, and contracts for the work have been awarded as follows: C. J. Phelps, Santa Ana, has the general contracting work, Hickman Bros., Santa Ana, the plumbing, and Robertson Electric Co., Santa Ana, the electrical work. Amling Brothers Express Confidence In City By Enlarging Gardens

Shipment of 30,000 Plants Received From Chicago In Record Time

Satisfied that the prosperity enjoyed by Santa Ana and its environs during the past three years is but the beginning of a tremendous era of expansion, and impressed with the advantages here for the conduct of their business, Amling Brothers, local rose growers, expressed this confidence in recent months by the following activity:

Expenditure of $65,000 for new greenhouses and equipment.

More than four miles of cement walks have been constructed in the company's greenhouses. Five carloads of sacked cement were used in the construction here.

More than twenty miles of pipe have been installed for water, heat and superstructure.

Six tons of putty were used in the construction of the glass houses.

More than three carloads of glass were used in the eight buildings which comprise the "rose factory." To be exact, 77,960 pieces of glass or 165,000 square feet of lights were utilized in the construction of the greenhouses here. This is, perhaps, a larger number of "windows" than are in all of the combined houses in Santa Ana.

Much Paint Needed

Nearly six carloads of finished lumber and eleven carloads of rough lumber were used.

Approximately 700 gallons of paint were needed.

The heating plant contains a fuel oil tank which holds three cars of oil. The plant uses nearly fifteen barrels of oil every twenty-four hours.

The buildings house 75,000 rose bushes.

Nearly three acres are under glass.

A carload of 30,000 rose plants shipped in a refrigerator car from Chicago last week arrived at Amling Brothers' greenhouses here just sixty hours later, breaking all previous records in shipment, according to J. F. Carter, local agent of the American Express company. Incidentally, this was the largest shipment of plants ever received.

1500 Florists To Visit Here in August

Arrangements have been made for including Santa Ana in the program of the 1500 delegates to the convention of the Society of American Florists to be held in Los Angeles next August, it was announced today by Ernst C. Amling, local rose grower.

One day has been set aside on the convention program for visiting Santa Ana in order that the florists from all parts of America may see and study the natural flower garden of the nation—Santa Ana.

The visitors will inspect the Amling Brothers' greenhouses here and will be taken in automobiles to points of interest in Santa Ana and the surrounding country, according to the plans announced today.

Four Days' Rent Pays Month Tax On Own Property

Strengthening the arguments of real estate dealers that it is cheaper to own a home in Santa Ana than to rent, comes the announcement of a national survey which estimates only four days' rent is sufficient to pay the taxes on a monthly basis.

How the man who pays rent is, as a matter of fact, paying not rent but taxes four days out of every month's 31 is shown graphically by the National Association of Real Estate boards in a survey of national real estate conditions to be published the coming week.

The survey includes the findings of an investigation of rental conditions.

Taxes cut squarely across the rent calendar, absorbing the total rent for four days out of every month, a chart illustrating the national average indicates.

PACKING HOUSES IN FIRE PROTECT PLAN

Desiring to safeguard the expected increase of business of two packing houses in Olive, officials of the plants known as the Olive Hillside association today announced details of a fire protection plan.

The two organizations will jointly spend about $2000 for the construction of a six-inch steel pipeline from the city reservoir, which is owned by the Olive Investment company, to each of the packing houses, a distance of approximately 2200 feet, it was reported.

Fire plugs will be installed in appropriate places near the end of the lines. This system will give the packing houses a water pres-

INCREASE PLANT EQUIPMENT AS FAITH PROOF

Business Is Coming Back For Bright Future, Is View Expressed

Business is coming back and it is only a matter of a brief period when business life again will be humming the same old tune, W. C. Baker, secretary of the Orange County By-Products company, said here today, in announcing that his company contemplated installing equipment at the plant to increase its output of milk bottle cases.

"While business has been hesitating a little," Baker continued, "our company is optimistic and is looking forward to a bright future."

"Corporation reports from all over the country for the year 1923 show remarkable progress. Recent publications giving building operations since January 1, show an increase of 36 per cent in the Atlantic section and 7 per cent in the Pacific, over the same period a year ago.

"This indicates a new wave of prosperity has arisen in the East and a similar condition will result in the West, multitudes continue to come to California, the population of the Golden State is increasing and greater demand for all products of the state will result in increased activity. We are facing a bright future."

"The recent drought in California was causing the pessimist to raise his voice in lamentation, but the moisture came, good crops will follow, the harvest will be great and continued prosperity will result."

"Now comes the hoof and mouth disease—serious? Yes. But the varied experience arising out of effort to adjust conditions and obtain a position of security against further isolation of our animal industry will result in satisfactory control. When our people are halting between courage and despair the burden becomes real and we discover how intimately involved independent common humanity becomes in each community. All are in a condition of unrest and uncertainty because of the far-reaching distress. But co-operation and optimism never failed us."

TO BEGIN WORK ON PLAYHOUSE AT ORANGE

ORANGE, May 29.—Work on a new $175,000 theater building is expected to begin here in the near future, according to reports current here today. The building is scheduled to be constructed on the corner of North Glassell and Maple avenues on property owned by J. C. Adams.

A Los Angeles theater company is understood to be financing the project, and is said to have announced that the new building will be the biggest and best theater in Orange County when completed. A ninety-nine year lease has been obtained on the property by the company from Adams, it is said. A building permit is expected to be issued daily for the building.

in Orange county, it was said.

The Amling roses grown in Santa Ana are shipped to all parts of California, Mexico, Texas, Arizona and Utah.

The local greenhouses are owned by Ernst C. Amling, who has complete charge of the enterprise on West Fifth street near the city limits, and Paul F. Amling, who operates a similar group of greenhouses near Chicago, carrying 95,000 plants. The Amling brothers grow rose plants only, and have all the fancy varieties. They refuse all retail business and sell only to wholesale dealers.

Plant Slips In Benches

The usual custom of planting rose slips in flat beds has been abandoned by Amling brothers, who declare they can get better results by planting the slips in raised beds known as "benches."

Commenting on his business, Ernst Amling stated:

"I am certain that we have the most up-to-date plant on the coast. We were anxious to have the best possible plant because we desire to get our share of the rapidly increasing business being enjoyed throughout this part of the country.

"We enjoy showing visitors our rose factory."

"We have been in business here since the spring of 1921 when we began with five greenhouses. We now have eight immense buildings. Our business increased 60 per cent last year and we look for a still greater increase this coming season."

"Now is the right time for expansion, as labor and materials for building are cheaper now than they ever will be."

GAIN OF CITY IN FUTURE ASSURED

the present time. During the past few months, however, many bungalow courts, apartment houses and small groups of houses have been using water from the same service line, thereby showing a relatively small gain because in many cases each service supplies water to several families.

The school enrollment has increased from 4200 in the spring of 1921 to an estimated 6400 at the present time, a gain of 52 per cent during the three years.

The post office records also are considered a reliable means for ascertaining the growth of a community. It was announced January 1, 1921, that the postal receipts in Santa Ana for the previous year amounted to $72,550.21 as compared with $121,339.51 reported January 1, 1924, an increase of 68 per cent.

If Santa Ana continues with exactly the same percentage of gain in population as experienced during the past three years there will be 61,667 men, women and children living here in May, 1927. If the same rate of increase holds good for the following three years in May, 1930, Santa Ana will have a population of 112,668 persons.

CALIFORNIA BUNGALOW AND INTERIOR PLANS

California is the home of the double cased openings, which give opportunity to throw the two rooms and hall together. Both rooms are light and cheery, having large windows at the side and front, the latter being flanked with long windows reaching to the floor.

An entrance door at the rear of the reception hall leads to a hall that connects the two bedrooms. The bathroom is readily accessible to all parts of the house, being at the end of the hall.

There are many closets, a feature the housekeeper will like. The basement extends under the whole house providing space for the heating plant, fuel, storage, etc.

The stucco may be applied to wood or metal lath over wood frame, or to brick, tile or concrete. Built in frame with wood or metal base as a base for the stucco, this home will cost about $6500, although building costs vary in different localities.

WASHINGON, May 29.—Congress has before it today the request of the veterans' bureau, which was transmitted through the President, for an appropriation of $127,817,898 to defray the costs of the soldier bonus until July 1, 1925. Of this amount $1,118,500 will be for administrative expenses.

Under the estimates of Director Lord of the budget bureau, $8,174,240 will be needed to pay the 327,125 veterans entitled to $50 or less under the provisions of the bill, and $18,451,274 due to beneficiaries of deceased veterans. This class of beneficiary is estimated at 185,499.

Included in the bureau's request was $100,000,000, which is the maximum authorized under the bonus law for the year 1925 for the annual premium to be provided for the payment of the face value of service insurance certificates.

The bureau request is in addition to the $3,000,000 requested by the war department and $450,000 asked by the navy department for assisting in the administration of the bonus law.

The message of introduction was delivered by the Rev. C. N. Jones of Yorba Linda, and the response was made by Dr. J. D. Thomas of Olive.

At the suggestion of H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, a special committee was appointed to ascertain if the county supervisors will consider paying the expenses of an expert available for conducting an agricultural survey to supply the various chambers of Orange county with much needed information concerning the possibilities in poultry-raising, horticulture and other "farm industries."

Judge Coburn announced plans for escorting 200 delegates of the Women's clubs convention to be held in Los Angeles, through Orange county Saturday, June 7. He asked for fifty automobiles to convey the women from the metropolis to Anaheim, and for another fifty cars to take the visitors to Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano and to Orange where the first fifty cars would return the women to their headquarters in Los Angeles. Santa Ana is to supply twenty of the cars.

The Associated Chambers adopted a resolution recommending that the state highway commission make and maintain a distinct middle line in all paved street highways, and recommending also that the county supervisors be asked to carry out the same center line scheme as a guard against accidents on the paved county roads.

A resolution requesting the county supervisors to reimburse the Orange County Harbor Committee of Fifty on all expenses required for carrying out the work of the committee during its investigation of the harbor project, was adopted.

The Chambers went on record as endorsing the movement sponsored by the Greater Los Angeles association.

The organization expressed approval of a plan for the reappor-

PORT SHIPPING POSSIBILITY BEING AIRED

Eastern press comment made to the effect that the world's commercial shipping is shifting to the Pacific, it was learned here today, will be presented to the Orange county harbor committee of fifty in a report to be submitted by a sub-committee appointed to gather data concerning the shipping possibilities of the project at Newport Beach.

The report is being compiled by D. Eyman Huff, chairman of the sub-committee; H. B. Van Dien, Santa Ana, H. R. Taylor, Irvine; J. A. Knapp, Garden Grove, and Jack Schumacher, Anaheim.

Huff plans, he said, to exhibit a copy of the New York Herald-Tribune, which published an interview with the famous Californian, Captain Robert Dollar, 80 years "young" and dean of American shipping men. In the interview Captain Dollar said:

"I am more firmly convinced than ever that the future activity of the world's merchant marine is shifting to the Pacific, and that in a few years there will be more ships on the Pacific than on any other ocean."

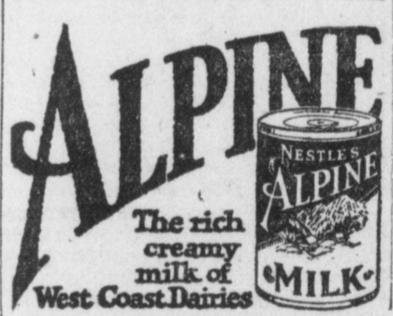

And, says the newspaper, "The New York men of ships agree with Captain Dollar."

Huff also is to call attention to an article published in a recent issue of the San Francisco Journal of Commerce, which states:

"Recently the president of the state harbor board made a public statement to the effect that shipping is San Francisco's biggest industry. In the first four months of 1924 the tonnage of cargo passing through the San Francisco docks increased 273,760 tons over the first four months of 1923.

"The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce reports that 131,000,000 of new industries was invested within the environs of San Francisco during 1923. The San Francisco overseas business for the fiscal year ending June, 1923, increased over the 1922 year by over a million dollars. The total was 3,072,000 tons, value approximately $315,000,000."

The shipping sub-committee is examining a list of fourteen shipping and lumber concerns which have written to the Harbor Chamber of Commerce expressing interest in the development of Orange county harbor, and plans to issue in the next few days a brief summary of these letters.

PLANS TO BEAUTIFY COMPANY PREMISES

Expressing the belief that if Santa Ana is worth living in it is worth making as beautiful and attractive a city as possible and that it is every one's duty to contribute his share towards this end, O. H. Barr, president of the Barr Lumber company, announced today plans for the erection of a beautiful and unique fence around the company's property on East Fourth street.

This fence, according to Barr, will be a model for any ornamental residence fence in the city. It will contain settee section in front of the old Griffith office so that the public can wait in comfort for the Pacific Electric cars to Orange or Los Angeles. The Santa Ana terminus of the railway is at this point.

A bulletin board showing the time of the arrival and departure of all cars and trains will be an added feature. The parking will be attractively planted with shrubs and flowers.

Barr states that while building has slowed down a little from the peak of last year's rush, he has every confidence in its renewal this fall and it is his advice for anyone contemplating any improvements, alterations, additions, or repairs, to do it now while labor and material can be secured advantageously.

"When a man at seventy-seven can eat as I do, sleep as I do and feel as well as I do, he certainly has something to be thankful for and, as for me, I place the credit for my good health where it belongs, squarely on the Tanlac treatment," recently declared Philip H. Jackley, a civil war veteran and former city passenger agent for the Chicago Northern Railway, residing at 2439 E. Seventh St., Kansas City, Missouri.

"Back in 1922, following an operation, my strength was absolutely gone. I had no appetite, and my stomach, which had troubled me for a long time, almost failed me completely. I was in an awful condition—could scarcely eat or digest anything—and there's no doubt whatever but Tanlac saved my life."

Women Aping Men In Dress Styles, Says Frenchman

PARIS, May 29.—"Like all revolutions the great war created saints among women, but it also made many fools," says Marcel Prevost, famous authority on feminism and member of the French academy.

"The whole aim of the dressmakers has been to conceal the glorious female form, not for reasons of morality, but as an expression of this new emancipation by which women are trying to be the equal of men, not by assuming the same work, not by demanding the right to vote, but delighting in the same pleasures and vice."

"The dressmakers finding the waistline an obstacle to their deliberate vandalism have removed it altogether or placed it below the hips. As to the bosom, they have tried to suppress it altogether. One celebrated dressmaker invented a bandage guaranteed to do this. "Now feminism comes to the last trench, with fashion having declared against the high heel shoe. With that heel so impractical and yet so dear to men, will go the last bulwark of the girl we used to know."

FULLERTON TO BE DEVELOPED TO SOUTH

FULLERTON, May 29.—Fullerton's southside is on the eve of a development era that, if present plans carry, will make it one of the leading business districts of the community as well as a most desirable residence section.

Property holders along South Spadra street and cross streets in that section are planning the reorganization of the South Side Improvement association. This body has a tentative program outlined that will draw to that district mercantile establishments and residences.

There are two things planned for the south side that benefit not only that section of the city but the entire community. One of these plans is the opening of Maple avenue straight through to Buena Park. The other is the proposed erection of a business block by E. B. Dreyfuss of San Francisco and Anaheim.

According to Harry Shipkey, one of the leaders in the move to re-organize the South Side Improvement association, the purpose of the organization is to secure a fund for the advertisement of that section of the city that will attract the homeseker and the man seeking a business site. 650 Families

Shipkey said:

"There are approximately 650 families now living on the south side of town. Every time any of these people want something in a hurry from a store they have to go down to the main shopping center. What we need is more stores in this section and more tenants for houses that are now standing vacant."

"A few property holders met recently to consider the reorganization of the Improvement association in order to have a body working for the south side. If we re-organize one of the first acts will be the raising of a fund for advertising our section of the city."

Shipkey said that the opening of Maple avenue as a through road to Buena Park would be one of the biggest aids to the south side. He said that the opening of this road has been delayed for some time pending the granting of a right of way through property owned by William Starbuck. According to Shipkey, Starbuck has announced that he would open this property as soon as sewers were installed in the city. The sewer system on the south side was recently connected with the joint outfall system.

E. B. Dreyfuss, who recently purchased the Livingston property on South Spadra between West Maple and West Ash avenues, is in Fullerton at present arranging for the construction of business block on his newly acquired property.

Details Incomplete
"I am planning to build a block of store rooms on my property," he said. "I cannot go into details regarding the type of building nor the approximate cost of the construction program at this time as my plans are not yet completed.

"I am at present considering with my architect, several types of construction ranging in cost from $20,000 to $100,000. I have not decided, definitely, on the type of building. I have decided, however, that I am going to erect a building that will be a credit to Fullerton and that work on this building will start immediately. As soon as I decide on a definite plan, which will be in a few days, operations will be started."

CHARM OF COLONIAL TYPE ADDED TO CONVENIENCE OF BUNGALOW IN THIS HOUSE

FRONT VIEW AND FLOOR PLAN OF THE COLONIAL BUNGALOW.

Incorporation of the charm of the colonial with the convenience of the bungalow is the achievement of the designer of this house.

The entrance with its door of colonial design and the side lights do much to add to the attractiveness of the home. The material chosen, white stucco, is well adapted to this type of work.

Large rooms are a feature of the interior. The dimensions of the living room are such as to insure that it will be made what its name implies, a room to live in. The dining room is of adequate size and opens off the living room in such a manner that an impression of increased size is given to both rooms.

The pergola terrace behind the dining room gives a maximum of convenience, since it is accessible from both the dining room and the living room. The kitchen is arranged as an efficient domestic unit.

The bedrooms are unusually large for a home of this type. Both have light and ventilation from two sides and commodious closets.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage between Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proved unhappy. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly under the care of his mother, Mary. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart and sells him for America.

When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see her, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David mistakes Mary for Nigel's wife and takes her to live with his aunt at Red Grange.

Mary is happy in her new home until Monty Fisher exposes her to David. Mary disappears. David asks County to help find her. Monte is sorry for David and tries to help David locate her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

But Mary was no weakling. After the first moment of anguish, she faced the future resolutely. She had managed to keep herself before. Well, she would do it again. The only possible thing was to shut out the past, bolt and bar the door of her heart against memory, and be prepared for whatever might come.

She spent the first day tramping from office to office in search of work, but the result was discouraging. In spite of the war and the consequent shortness of men, there seemed no place for her. Many times her name and address were taken.

"We will let you know if we hear of anything."

The same old answer, the same old excuse with which she had so often been put off before!

She got back to her room at night tired and dispirited. The day had seemed endless. Her feet ached with tramping on the pavements. Surely it was only in a dream that she had ever walked the velvety lawns of the Red Grange and driven with David.

She had kept her thoughts resolutely from him so far, but now, alone and wearied, the memory of him came surging back to her.

How he must hate her now if he knew everything! And of course, he did know—Monty Fisher would have told him. How he must hate her!

She spread her arms on the little round table, and laid her head on them.

The Red Grange! It sounded to her very much as the name Fairyland must to a child—as something wonderful and unreal, something of which one only hears and never dares hope to see.

And yet once she had been there. Once, for a few short days, she had had her peat at paradise. Nothing could take that from her. Evans' conversation came back to herself.

"And where are you living now?

"Not in the same flat?"

"Oh, no; I left it a long while ago."

It seemed a long while—though she knew it was, but a few weeks.

"But you are still living in London?"

"Oh, yes!"

He colored a little at her evasive reply.

"You don't want me to know where."

She looked distressed.

"Oh, please don't think me unkind! It isn't that; but—but I haven't time for friends. I know you think it horrid of me—especially when you were so good to me."

"I only think what is nice about you."

He spoke the words with clumsy sincerity. He kept his eyes on his plate. His heart was pounding under his office coat. He would have given anything had he dared put out his hand and lay it over her own; but something restrained him.

She hardly gave a serious thought to Dora's last words. She did not really believe that David was thinking of punishing her for what she had done.

And, after all, what had she done? Deceived him—yes. But he was in no way the loser for it, unless one counted the few happy drives she had taken with him, the few nights she had spent under his roof, the few meals she had taken at his table.

If she had been the adventures they would all think her, she would not have been satisfied with that. She would have wanted money and clothes, and perhaps jewels.

The tears rushed to her eyes as she thought of Miss Varney. The old lady had been so good to her, had been genuinely fond of her, she was sure. Would she, too, now hate her? as David assuredly would?

She tried to eat the tea the landlady brought for her, but the thick slices of bread and butter and the cheap tin tray, with no dainty linen cloth to hide its ugliness, brought a lump to her throat. It was absurd, so she tried to argue.

She rose resolutely from the table. She felt that she would go mad if she stayed any longer in this room with its stuffiness and ugliness.

She took her hat, and went out.

CHAPTER LV

THE Wheel of Fate
THE streets were dark and uninteresting, but there, at least, she could breathe and move. No four walls hemmed her in. The horrible feeling of being in prison vanished.

A batch of soldiers swung past her in the road singing cheerily. Their boots were thick with dust. They looked tired, but their spirits were high. She thought of Nigel. Once he had been one of them—he who was now sleeping almost forgotten somewhere in France.

Surely she must have loved him in another lifetime. Surely with his death she had closed one book of her life and begun another.

As she turned a corner in the young man coming quickly in the opposite direction ran against her. He apologized, raising his hat. They were close to a street lamp, and by its subdued light each saw the other's face.

Mary caught her breath.

"You?" she said.

Young Evans colored to the roots of his hair. For a moment he could only stare at her. Then he put out his hand.

"I was beginning to think we should never meet again."

He had been thinking of Mary a moment since, he had been thinking of her ever since the morning, when he had been called into Monty Fisher's office, and been questioned about her. And now here she was; now they were face to face again. He held her hand in a glad clasp. His heart was thumping wildly. He broke out again, stammering a little.

"I never thought we should meet any more. I am so glad to see you."

Mary did not know what to say.

"GROZIT" BRAND

PULVERIZED SHEEP MANURE

What Is It?

"GROZIT" Brand Pulverized Sheep Manure is a high test plant food. It is the pure sheep manure which has lain in corrals for years in the dry desert air of Nevada until it has thoroughly cured. It is then taken up, graded, screened and shipped to San Francisco where it is thoroughly re-ground and graded. It is then sacked in heavy burlap bags and shipped direct to Orange County in carloads. Since we have been shipping "Grozit" in here in carloads we have been able to sell it for about ten dollars per ton cheaper than when we were buying it in a small way.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS: Every car of "GROZIT" is tested—Nitrogen, 1.65; water soluble Potash, 3.00; and Phosphorus Nitrogen, 1.65; water soluble Potash, 3.00; and Phosphoric Acid, 1.25. When you buy "GROZIT" you buy pure, unadulterated plant food.

"GROZIT" IS USED FOR anything where one needs a fertilizer. But it is used more for LAWNS, POTTED PLANTS and GARDENS than for anything else; and FOR LAWNS IT IS ESPECIALLY DESIRABLE.

FOR REAL RESULTS—USE IT NOW. ORDER TODAY. For sale here by the sack or by the ton.

BATTLES WIND UP TRAINING CAMPAIGN

Tommy Tears Through Ten Sizzling Rounds While Carpenter Idles

BY JAMES T. KOLBERT

United Press Staff Correspondent
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 29.—Georges Carpenter and Tommy Gibbons have finished their hard wind and now are drifting along in light calisthenics to their ten round fight here Saturday. They are on edge and fear overtraining. Gibbons wound up with ten sizzling rounds while Georges idled around yesterday. It is almost the consensus of opinion that the fight is a toss up and the "experts" are advising against putting up bets.

"Almost anything may happen," is the more or less original way they sum it up.

Gibbons has been working out a defense for the Frenchman's "leaping right" and has been doing a lot of close-in work recalling how vulnerable Carpenter was to Jack Dempsey's crushing body blows.

There will be little difference in weight when Georges and Tommy step into the ring. Gibbons now weighs 178 pounds and expects to be at that weight Saturday. Carpenter admits weighing 175 pounds but indications are he is somewhat heavier.

CHURCHMEN SEND BOUT PROTEST TO GOVERNOR

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 29.—A protest against the Carpenter-Gibbons fight at Michigan City, Ind., was sent to Gov. Emmett F. Branch by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at the closing session here today.

The protest was framed and sent after the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the board of temperance, had received a telegram from W. S. Fleming of Chicago asking the conference to oppose the fight.

TUSTIN TEAM WINS CLAIM FIRPO-WILLS CUP FROM WILLARDS TO MEET IN AUGUST

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, May 29.—Luis Firpo, South American heavyweight champion, and Harry Wills are to meet in Jersey City in August and the winner will be matched with Jack Dempsey for a heavyweight championship bout in September.

Tex Rickard, who is to stage both matches, said today that Firpo hadn't definitely signed any articles calling for his return to this country but that he was expecting a fight of it every inning.

Tustin got away to a strong lead during the first inning when it drove in four counters. Errors on the part of the locals proved costly during the game. The Frances E. Willard team scored their only two runs in the second inning on a couple of Tustin errors and a brace of hits.

Rickard admitted this week he had reopened negotiations with Firpo and said he had been told by his South American representatives that the Argentinian was in the mood to listen to a new proposition. So Tex made another offer, which, it is reported, has been accepted.

Outroll Standard Oil Five By Even 100 Pins; Meet Bankers For Title

The championship of all teams that bowl at the Broadway academy today rested between the Santa Ana Realty board, champions of the Commercial league, and the American National bank, title-holders of the Business Men's loop. These teams probably will collide the first of next week.

The Realtors became supreme in their division last night when they decisively whipped the Standard Oil company quintette in a play-off match for the championship. The two outfits previously had tied for circuit honors.

John D. Rockefeller's employees managed to score a one-point victory in the third tilt of the evening but the Lot-Sellers had piled up such a tremendous lead in the opening stanzas that the slight success went for naught.

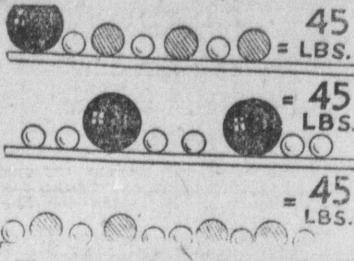

Team totals show the champions bumped over 2255 pins, an even 100 better than was scored by the runners-up.

The scores:

EVENING SALUTATION

This lovely world, the hills, the sward—
They all look fresh as if our Lord
But yesterday had finished them.
—Jean Ingelow.

AN UNDEVELOPED ASSET

Yesterday on the editorial page of The Register, appeared an editorial reprinted from the Santa Monica Outlook in which the avenue of fine trees at Riviera are declared to be "an asset of inestimable value."

And they are just that. In fact, there is no city in the United States that has paid particular attention to its tree planting and tree care but has found the effort worth the while a hundred times over.

There is no one in Santa Ana, we are sure, who will deny that abundance and harmony of trees in any California city are of high value, that they lend distinctiveness to the city that has them and give joy and pleasure to those who live in that city.

And yet, what has Santa Ana ever done about it?

Nothing! Absolutely nothing!

There is no place in California where so great a variety of trees can be grown successfully as right here in Santa Ana. We have the whole wide world from which to make our selections. But we plant trees hit or miss, by accident, without regard to what the neighbor has. One man with much pleasure grows trees in front of his place; he sells the place, and the buyer hires a woodchopper. Whoever heard of a permit to remove trees in Santa Ana being denied? True, it might take us a little time to get it; such instances, however, are rare; but in the long run the permit is always available. And whoever heard of anyone being prosecuted in Santa Ana for having cut out or mutilated trees without a permit?

LOCAL HISTORY

A Kansas citizen recently wrote to his newspaper to complain of the fact that 50 students in a class at the state university were wholly ignorant of a matter of local history. Kansas, it seems, once had a loyal and far-sighted citizen who devoted many years of effort to planting elm trees in the open spaces which are now Topeka. The trees did not grow easily and many fellow-citizens ridiculed the idea that they ever would grow there. Today many of the streets of that city are embowered with elms and they are even to be found on the edges of the prairie lands outside the town.

In some ways this is a small matter to call history and to expect college students to be familiar with. Yet ignorance of this tree-planter's labor of love and vision is deplorable because it is indicative of a like ignorance of many more important things of national as well as local history.

The erection of monuments to all the citizens who have contributed to a community's upbuilding is of course foolish and extreme. But a knowledge of the facts of a community's growth is very desirable. Too many thriving, up-to-date towns are wholly unaware of the truly inspiring traditions and historical facts of their origin and development.

Everything considered, it seems just a bit doubtful whether the President will make the usual appeal of the dominant party leader for the re-election of all his party brethren in the House and Senate.

INTERNATIONAL MANNERS

It is easy to make too much of an incident like the booing of an American football team in Paris recently, or the unpleasant treatment given several winners at the Olympic games in London several years ago.

A New York paper finds an apt match for the French incident referred to in the behavior of an American crowd last year, hissing and insulting a French boxer at the Polo Grounds. Athletes of England and other foreign countries have seldom been received by the American populace with much more enthusiasm than foreign nationalities show for our own champions.

Nations in the mass seldom or never love each other. But neither do they often really hate each other. Outbreaks of hostile sentiment against foreign nations in any country are usually expressions of violent partisanship more than anything else.

Ignorance and suspicion are usually at the bottom of it, more than any reasoned conviction or definite clash of interests. It is the uncultured crowd that boot and hisses the foreigner and spurns fine specimens of alien races. The educated man or woman usually has considerable understanding of and respect for other nations.

Overt hostility toward foreigners is more bad manners than anything else, and is to be corrected by education, just as we correct bad manners in the home, teaching children to be decent to the neighbors.

LOVE FOR HORSES

Is the horse obsolete? Well, 80,000 people were present at the Kentucky Derby at Louisville the other day, when Black Gold, owned by an Oklahoma woman, won out of a field of 19 runners. It was perhaps the biggest crowd that ever saw a horse race in this country.

Horses annoy us on the street or the country road, when they get in the way of automobiles. They seem, then, grotesquely awkward and inefficient compared with the wonderful little gas engines on wheels. Yet why do 80,000 people go and pay good money to see horses running on a track of their own?

It is "sport," and it is also friendly respect for a brute servant, which is of such ancient growth that it is almost instinctive in men and women.

WEATHER AND BUGS

Here is a yarn that the Farm Bureau's leaders ought to tell at the center meetings.

The Youth's Companion prints the story of a farmer who decided to find out just how much heat and cold a boll weevil can stand. He caught one and froze it into a cake of ice, left it there for 24 hours, then thawed the ice and was astonished to see the bug stretch its wings and walk away. He caught it again, put it under a pan on the stove and built a good fire. The stove got red hot, the pan got red hot, and evidently the weevil also got red hot. At any

Taxation As An End

Muskoee Phoenix

The only sound view of taxation is that it is a necessary evil, to be limited in scope and amount as much as possible; that it is not an end to be sought, but means toward carrying the expenses of government, to be applied as sparingly as the condition of that need will permit.

This view, if one is to judge by the speeches made in congress and by a considerable share of newspaper discussion of the subject, is all wrong. By some means our national and local legislators have convinced themselves that taxation is a blessing and sufficient unto itself. It is impossible to resist this conclusion when one looks at the amount collected by taxation and listens to the arguments over ways and means.

It is clear that in most of the dickering and bargaining that has taken place in congress between the different factions, the amount and the incidence of taxation have been used merely as trading capital. Each side has refused some proffer from the other, objecting that it was utterly against the interest of the taxpayers and the public treasury, and has willingly yielded the same point a little later when there seemed to be some advantage in doing so. It is a sorry spectacle.

If one notes the items of the revenue bill under dispute, he will be struck by the fact that they are mostly explained and considered as good or bad in themselves, without reference to their quality as revenue-producers. This is not true of the plan originally presented by Secretary Mellon. Whatever one may think of the principle of this, it must be agreed that it was a means conceived as fit to raise a certain amount of the revenue that the treasury needs. Its successors have departed from that type. Shall this surtax be limited to 25 or to 40 per cent or remain unchanged? Shall the exemption limit be $2,000 or $4,000, and the rate 4 or 6 per cent? Shall we tax or exempt the movies and candy and chewing gum and soda water? These are questions that most men answer as if taxation were a system of regulating business rather than a means of raising revenue.

LaFollette's Program

Los Angeles Saturday Night

Will he consent? Who, Robert Marion La Follette? Will a duck swim? Of course, the senator from Wisconsin will head a ticket if he is invited to become an independent candidate for President. Wild horses could not drag him away from the post of standard-bearer for the irreconcilables. Ever since 1912 he has been a Barkie willing to serve his country and, incidentally, defeat his party. The program seems to be a concentration on the northwest and middlewest states where the Farmer-Labor party and, the Non-partisan League are well entrenched, also in the industrial sections where organized labor has a good foothold. With these elements behind him, La Follette will sail in to defeat Mr. Coolidge by trying to defeat the election of a President to congress.

There is said to be an alternative: If the Republicans will name a stout progressive, La Follette may forego his present intention of becoming an independent candidate. That he might carry North Dakota, South Dakota, possibly, Montana, and Wisconsin, is admitted, but Minnesota, while harboring a strong Farmer-Labor contingent, at heart is Republican and Coolidge should have an even break there. That La Follette would defeat Coolidge in Michigan is unlikely; the Wolverine state is safely Republican. Nebraska is more of a problem, but as between Coolidge and La Follette, in spite of the Norris following, there should be little doubt of the outcome.

It is a foxy plan that is brewing: to have the Democrats nominate a man for vice-president who could be endorsed by the independents as a running mate for La Follette. Then, if the election reached congress, the Progressive-Democratic coalition would turn the trick in the manner provided by the Constitution. It is a beautiful program.

Riverside's Wish

Riverside Press

Some years ago a bill was introduced in the legislature providing for the transfer of the "Inland Highway" from Riverside to San Diego to the state, but the proposition did not get very far. The measure was sponsored by San Diego and Riverside took no special interest in it on the ground that the improvement most needed by this county from the state is the Mecca to Blythe road. We doubted then and we doubt now if it is wise to complicate that issue by other appeals for state aid. Of course Riverside county would be glad to see the maintenance of any highway within its limits transferred from the county budget to the state budget; but the one great thing we want from the state is the Sun Kist trail road; and until we get it, we shall be inclined to "keep off" on other schemes for state aid or state control of highways in this county.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

AS FREE AS THE AIR

During the flu epidemic the value of oxygen in pure form was amply demonstrated. As you know, your doctor is worried in an illness about the wastes that accumulate in the body. He is anxious that the used up material in the blood should be removed, because that is what poisons the system. And so when the breathing becomes labored, and the skin a dusky hue, he knows that there is not sufficient oxygen getting into your system to burn up or clear out the poisons manufactured in your body.

Consequently the idea of providing oxygen in tanks at the bedside has been introduced. By means of a tube into the nostril held in place by a band about the head, you can breathe in the pur oxygen until the poisons are removed. You begin to breathe more easily, and the skin loses its dusky hue. In athletic contests, covering days of effort, oxygen has been introduced into the system to overcome fatigue. It is the fatigue products in the blood, which as it passes certain centers in the brain, make the brain, send an impulse to the lungs to breathe more.

This shows the value of oxygen in a severe illness, where your very life is at stake. What about that body of yours and its need of oxygen when you are not even sick? Apply the same rule.

Unless you get sufficient oxygen into your system, then you will be in the same box as when you were sick.

The only difference is that you are walking around, able to do your work, and of course do not realize just why you do not feel just up to your usual state of good health. You have eaten well, have sat around your office or home, or sat been employed in an establishment where the ventilation is poor. You are carrying too much waste—poison—in your system.

And the remedy? You know what is needed—just the fresh air that is free to everybody. A walk of a mile or two, or just the outdoors itself for a while every day will give you the necessary oxygen to burn things up. If you can't go out, you can ventilate your home and get your supply of oxygen in that manner.

SONG

We sail toward evening's lonely star,
That trembles in the tender blue;
One single cloud, a dusky bar
Burnt with dull carmine through and through,
Slow smouldering in the summer sky.

Lies low along the fading west;

How sweet to watch its splendors die.

Wave-cradled thus, and wind-caress'd!
